

PROJECT

This substantial rehabilitation transformed a historic bank building into a unique event space and banquet hall, located in the historic core of Brooklyn's Williamsburgh neighborhood.

BACKGROUND

Designed by architect George B. Post in 1875, the Williamsburgh Savings Bank served the banking needs of its community for over one hundred years. The great hall is considered one of New York's finest public spaces from the postbellum era.

Total Development Cost:
$23 million

NTCIC Financing:
$3.5 million Federal Historic Tax
Credit equity investment

$2 million New York State Historic
Tax Credit equity investment

Project Partners:
Partnership between Javier
Starkstein, Carlos Perez San
Martin, and Gustavo Bianco

NTCIC Contact:
Sarah McDonnell
smcdonnell@ntcic.com